

An aerial view of almost no traffic on normally clogged Interstate 210 in Pasadena, California, on April 6. Los Angeles County authorities are warning of a spike in coronavirus infections this week.